

Keeping well

This guide tells me about the different types of food I should eat every week and ways to keep well. If I am on a special diet I should not use this guide.

Golden Lane Housing

working in partnership with  mencap

Bread, other cereals and potatoes

I should eat more:

bread, potatoes, noodles, breakfast cereals, pasta, rice, oats, beans and pulses.

 What are in these foods?
Carbohydrates, starch, fibre, calcium, iron and vitamin B.

 How do these foods help me?
They give me energy.

Fruit and vegetables

Eat 5 portions a day

I should eat more:

fresh, frozen, tinned fruit and vegetables and dried fruit.

 What are in these foods?
Vitamin C, other vitamins, fibre, minerals and carbohydrates.

 How do these foods help me?
They are good for all of my health.

Meat, fish and other things

I should eat some:

meat, poultry, fish, eggs, nuts, beans and pulses.

* What are in these foods?
Protein, iron, vitamins, zinc and magnesium.

* How do these foods help me?
They are good for the growth and repair of my body.

Milk and dairy foods

I should eat or drink some:

milk, cheese, yoghurt and fromage frais. Cut down on the fat by choosing the lower fat types.

* What are in these foods?
Calcium, protein, vitamin B12, vitamin A and D.

* How do these foods help me?
They help me to have stronger bones and teeth.

Food with a lot of fat and sugar

I should only eat or use small amounts of:

margarine, butter, lard, cooking oils, mayonnaise, cake, cream, chocolate, crisps, pastry, puddings and ice-cream. Cut down on the fat by choosing the lower fat types.

 What are in these foods?
Fat, some essential fatty acids, some vitamins, sugar and salt.

 It is good to have a treat sometimes!

Drink 1.2 litres of water a day.
This is about 6-8 glasses of water.

Do some exercise

Eating well and doing exercise will help me to keep healthy. I should do enough exercise for the amount that I eat. It is good to do some exercise every week.

Some of the pictures are by Photosymbols and Golden Lane Housing.
A big thank you to Unicorn for giving us some of the food that was used in the pictures.